THE TALK OF THE CAMPUS

Halfway to Goal

JUNIATA'S Postwar Fund campaign for one million dollars has passed the halfway mark.

In late February, the financial report showed that a total of $516,467 has been contributed toward the original objective which was set in 1944.

Between the launching of the Postwar Fund and the opening of the 1949-50 college year, a grand total of $465,733 had been contributed to Juniata from all sources. Since then, the college received a gift of $28,000 from the late W. Emmert Swigart for the purchase of Swigart Music Hall and has obtained an additional $22,734 in the Alumni Fund (total on February 25).

Of the amount received to date, the college has used $67,711 for remodeling buildings and improving the college plant; $143,500 for new additions to the plant; and $194,117 has been reserved for endowment.

A total of $88,405 is held in securities and cash to be used for the Memorial Physical Education building and the money in the current Alumni Fund has not been assigned to date.

A further breakdown of the expenditures reveals that among the renovations was an expense of $27,000 for remodeled chemistry laboratories and $22,000 for Founder's lobby and office space in 1948.

In the outlay for new additions to the plant was the recent expense of $90,000 for the dining hall addition and $10,000 for a fireproof stairway

It was a happy day when the college opened its new addition to the dining hall on January 30. For the first time in many years all resident students now may eat "on the same shift" in family style as shown here. The old dining hall extends to the left beyond the columns; the new serving area is entered through the doors in background.

for Oneida Hall. The $28,000 received from Mr. Swigart was used for the purchase of the former residence of Francis McSherry. In 1946 and 1947, $15,500 had been spent to equip the Village, the Lodge and the home economics building—all received from the U.S. Government.

Additions to the endowment show that $129,368 has been listed as "unrestricted" and the remaining $64,749 is "restricted" for use principally for scholarships.

The chief project for the Postwar Fund for this year will be the Memorial Physical Education building.

Tentative plans have been made to break ground for the building this spring, but only a little over $88,000 is available now. It is estimated that the building will cost in the neighborhood of $250,000. Hence, the emphasis on current giving is directed toward obtaining an additional $162,000 as soon as possible.

The college is moving ahead with plans for the gymnasium and an architect has been assigned to complete the drawings. This building is to be dedicated to the Juniata men and women who served in World War II.

CLASS REUNIONS

Around the Campus

THESE were less hub-bub at mid-year as the college moved from the fall into the spring term in late January. Maybe it was because the turn-over had decreased somewhat.

Actually the enrollment drop was only 32 when the office of the registrar released the official report that 609 students, including part-time and specials, were enrolled.

Twenty-three of the losses were through graduation; others were the result of the normal drop caused by withdrawals.

Meanwhile, the college added 12 new full-time and 9 new special students for the spring term. The newcomers entered with advanced standing in the majority of cases.

Move-up Day was held one month earlier this year as the Student Senate voted to make March 29 Move-Up Day and to hold elections for senate officers three weeks prior to that day. Elections for senate chairmanships and for class officers were held on March 14. Club officer elections were held later in the month. The new Move-Up Day is a compromise between a date in latter April of previous years and a discussed mid-year election plan.

Another successful week of Spiritual Emphasis was concluded on February 9 with Dr. Ansley C. Moore, minister of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church in Pittsburgh, as the leader. Dr. Moore led chapel discussions and seminars on the subject of "Christian Heritage," the theme for the third of the programs planned by the Religious Planning Commission. John W. Keener, a senior from Indiana, Pa., headed the committee planning the week of programs.

Katherine Bacon, world famous pianist, presented a concert in Oller Hall on February 10. Born in Chesterfield, Eng., Miss Bacon has appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and is now on the faculty of the Julliard School of Music. An appreciative audience

Glamour In Stamps

UNCLE Sam's postage stamps were involved in a new glamour trend in letter-writing at Juniata College.

Clerks at the student post office reported that they were deluged with requests from coeds for brightly colored postage stamps—mostly the three-cent variety.

"Why?"

To which the coeds replied: "We want stamps to match the color of our ink!"

approved the excellent program and artistry of Miss Bacon.

Joseph Ciampa, a former student at Juniata, became the new owner of Skips when the campus eatery changed hands again. Joe bought the $16,000 establishment from the Abbots, former owners, and held a grand opening on February 14. He plans to build an apartment above and enlarge if adjacent ground is available.

The interest shown by students in the discussions planned by the newly-established Religious Planning Commission indicated a success favorable for future programs. Luther H. Harshberger, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania State Christian Association, initiated the Commission's programs in October as leader of the first phase of discussions on Christianity and communism. Personal and campus affairs were treated by Ira Reid, professor of sociology at Haverford College, in a December discussion on courtship and marriage problems. Under the phase of Christian heritage, Spiritual Life Week was observed in February with Dr. Ansley C. Moore as leader. The fourth and final program is scheduled for April 14-16 when Harold Row, secretary of the Brethren Service Commission, will be the leader in a series of weekend discussions on "A Christian's Responsibility in a Social Order."

Pia Tassinari, Metropolitan Opera soprano, was the artist in the second of the Community Concert series on February 21. Duo-pianists Whittemore and Lowe were the opening artists in the series. The De Paur Infantry Chorus will close the season with a concert on April 14.

For Good Causes

OVER the top again this year is Juniata World Service Fund drive with its goal of $1,950 surpassed by more than $200.

A campus-wide campaign to raise funds for various agencies of charity and relief, the drive was officially opened on February 13 by general chairman, Richard C. Coffman, a senior business major from Huntingdon.

The five different charities benefiting from the all-inclusive campaign are: World Student Service Fund, the Foreign Student Aid Fund, the American Red Cross, and the Rev. J. M. Blough and the Rev. H. Stover Kulp, both mission field workers.

The Foreign Student Aid Fund received an additional boost from the proceeds of the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "Pirates of Penzance," which was presented in Oller Hall on March 17 and 18. "Pirates" was directed by Prof. Donald S. Johnson (assisted by Miss Esther M. Doyle and Prof. Jack D. Brammer) who staged last year's successful musical, "Sweethearts."

Frances L. Roddy, a senior music major from Wynnwood, and Charles E. Redenberger, a freshman music major from Altoona, headed the all-student cast. Corena L. Soltenberger, a senior from Williamsburg, served as student manager.

Latest additions to the College plant are Swigart Music Hall (left) and the modernized extension of the dining hall (right). Both structures were obtained in the college's Postwar Fund development program. The fund has passed the halfway mark toward one million dollars. (See story: Halfway To Goal).

Who's Who

A husband and wife were among nine seniors at Juniata College selected for recognition in the 1949-50 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Jack F. Padgett, Haddonfield, N.J., and his recent bride Katharine Long Padgett, Baltimore, Md., hold two of the top positions in the college's student government. Padgett is president of Senate and his wife is secretary.

Six other members of Student Senate were named. They are: Joseph L. Beyer, New York, N.Y.; Lois P. Esaley, Hanover Pa.; Betty M. May, Cumberland, Md.; Eugene A. Roddy, Wynnewood, Pa.; A. Robert Smith, York, Pa.; and Elma F. Stine, McVeytown, Pa.

Margaret A. Roop, Downingtown, Pa., president of the Masque and an honor society member, completed the group.

All were nominated on the basis of scholarship, leadership, participation in educational and extracurricular activities, citizenship and promise of future usefulness.

Day Students Total 178

Juniata's spring term enrollment included 178 non-resident or "day" students taking full-time, part-time or special work. Men outnumber women 125 to 53.

First-Rate College

JUNIATA was one of 104 small independent colleges included in the annual listing of good small colleges in the nation presented in the February issue of Good Housekeeping magazine.

Only 13 Pennsylvania colleges were named on the listing which is prepared for parents and prospective college students.

Colleges are selected on the basis of the following criteria: 1—high academic standing (on final accreditation list of Association of American Universities); 2—operating with a normal enrollment of fewer than 2,000; 2—within the $1,000 range for the basic costs of board, room and tuition.

Other Pennsylvania colleges selected were Allegheny, Chestnut Hill, Dickinson, Franklin & Marshall, Geneva, Gettysburg, Grove City, Muhlenberg, Seton Hill, Ursinus, Washington and Jefferson and Westminster.

Commencement Speaker

Dr. C. W. deKiewiet, president of Cornell University, will give the Commencement address at the College to the Class of 1950 on Monday, June 5. The graduating class is expected to be the largest in the history of the college.

Career Conferences

A series of weekend "career conferences" designed to aid college-minded persons explore career opportunities are being held by Juniata College on its campus here during March and April.

Conferences are conducted in the fields of social studies, science, arts and literature, home economics, business administration and education. Department chairmen and faculty members serve as consultants.

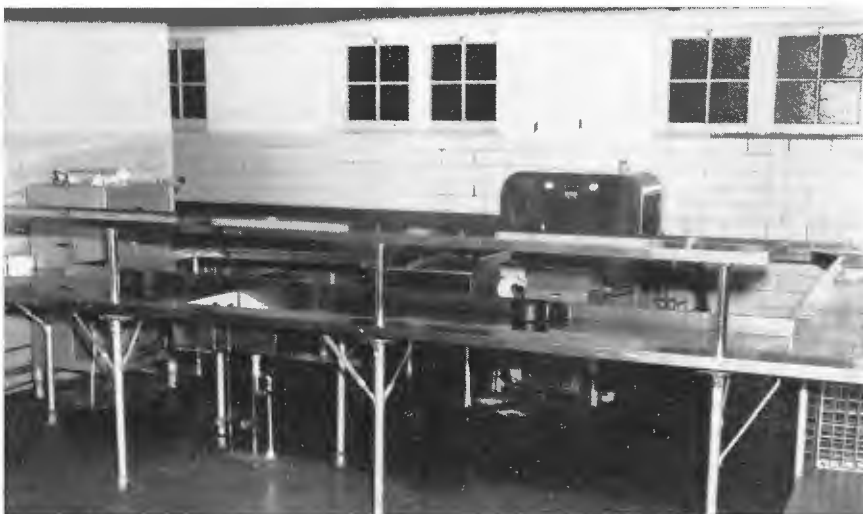

The five-week series opened with a social studies conference on March 4-5.

Others were scheduled as follows: March 11-12, science; March 18-19, the arts and literature; March 25-26, home economics and business administration; April 15-16, education.

For the first career conference, the college invited primarily high school seniors who indicated an interest in pre-law, pre-ministry, history and political science, library science, psychology, sociology and social science.

Information Contest

The Joseph F. Biddle General Information contest this year was won by Sherwood S. Cordier '50, history major from Indiana, Pa. Second prize also was won by a history major, David J. Kennedy '50 of Tarentum, Pa. Thirty-seven students competed.

Behind the scenes in the college's new dining hall is a vast amount of modern equipment in a new kitchen on the ground floor and new serving room on the main floor. The top photograph shows the cooking area where food is prepared for some 430 resident students. In the center, two waitresses obtain coffee to serve hot from the beverage section in the serving room. Below, a completely modern dishwashing area with automatic equipment completes the cycle for one meal.

Men Take Honors

THE male brain trusters at Juniata apparently ignored equal academic rights for women during the fall term.

When the Dean's List of Distinguished Students was released by Dean Morley Mays, there were 15 men named. Not a coed made the list.

Each semester, the Dean's List includes students who have achieved an average of 90 or above. They must be a full-time student carrying a minimum program of 12 hours, but there is no other qualification.

The fall term list included seven seniors, four juniors, three sophomores, and one freshman. Each of the men had graduated from different high schools.

Seniors selected were: Richard C. Coffman, Huntingdon; Ekkehard Eickhoff, Germany (graduated in January); Robert A. Lefever, Huntingdon; Leo V. Mintz, McKeesport (graduated in January); Donald C. Norris, Ambler; Eugene A. Roddy, Wynnewood; and Ned F. Walter, Claysburg.

Juniors: John R. Comerford, Washington, D.C.; Gerald F. Hartzel, Souderton; Edwin H. Marschka, Erie; Vernon C. Showalter, Mt. Pleasant.

It was the sixth semester in which Walter has attained the honor list. Coffman has been named five times; Lefever and Marschka each four times.

Men Outnumber Women

Enrollment figures for the spring term reveal that men again outnumber the women by a wide margin in the student body of 609. There were 381 men and 228 women registered on January 30.

Winter Convocation

A STRONG plea for society, as well as the individual to "return to principles" was delivered by Dr. Harry V. Masters, president of Albright College, in his message at Juniata's winter convocation in Oller Hall on January 30.

In addressing 23 graduates, 12 new students and more than 500 returning undergraduates, Dr. Masters stressed that "this nation needs great principles by which to live and fight, with which to win or lose."

Dr. Masters maintained that American democracy was built on the theory of doing the right even if it meant loss and defeat. And yet for several generations "we have been preferring another practice," he explained.

"We have been exceedingly smart and clever and have preferred the practice of choosing the smart and clever course instead of the right course. In this we have been with the rest of the world," the college president insisted.

"But our cleverness and our smart expedients have brought civilization to the brink of destruction," explained Dr. Masters.

Dr. Masters pointed out that if there is a return to principle, it will have to originate in the great idealistic institutions such as our professional organizations, our churches and our educational institutions, particularly our colleges.

Following the address by Dr. Masters, President Calvert N. Ellis conferred degrees on 21 men and two women who were presented as candidates by Dr. Morley Mays, dean of the college.

The complete list of graduates appears here by county and state:

Allegheny:

Leo V. Mintz, 1831 Union St., McKeesport, (B.A.)

Blair:

Charles R. Dillen, 115 Aldrich Ave., Altoona, (B.S.); Lois A. Garver, 701 Spang St., Roaring Spring, (B.S.); H. David Snider, 704 Poplar St., Roaring Spring, (B.S.)

Clearfield:

Robert S. Moore, Madera, (B.S.)

Dauphin:

Jack W. Drexler, R.D. 1, Middletown, (B.S.)

Time Out With The Faculty

In spite of the busy life on the crowded college calendar, some of Juniata's faculty members "make time" for interesting hobbies and non-academic pursuits. This article on Prof. Charles L. Rowland is the second of a series for the Alumni Bulletin.

By Gwen Nyce '49

PROF. CHARLES L. ROWLAND
Musicmaker and Woodworker

A MUSIC maker by profession and a wood worker by hobby. That's Prof. Charles L. Rowland, professor of music and director of the A Capella Choir at Juniata College.

Proficient in blending the 36-voice choir at Juniata for the eighteenth consecutive year, "Prof" Rowland has had an even longer career in the art of wood working.

Raised on a farm near Hagerstown, Md., Professor Rowland soon learned the trade from his father who had a blacksmith and wood-work shop. The younger Rowland's first creations in wood were a wagon and a pair of ice skates.

A course in manual training at McPherson College, Kansas, and summers spent as a carpenter's helper carried "Prof." further along in his hobby.

Professor Rowland was graduated from Blue Ridge College, Md., in 1905 and was the first man in the Church of the Brethren to receive a bachelor's degree in music (from Brandon Institute Music School) in 1915. He did graduate study at several choir schools and studied privately in voice.

Since he joined the faculty at Juniata in 1920, "Prof." has successfully combined his music career with his hobby. For many years he has made professional style conductor's batons which are furnished to the music faculty. He has designed a music cabinet with sliding drawers and the collapsible stands and trunk used by the A Capella Choir.

In addition, Professor Rowland has put his creative ability to good use at his residence in Huntingdon with the designing and construction of useful and novel household articles.

Activity in the newly acquired Swigart Music Hall was very much in evidence promptly after its opening on January 30. In the top photograph, Prof. Donald S. Johnson (at piano), chairman of the department of music, conducts his class in harmony. Below, two members of the music faculty, Prof. Jack Brammer, violinist, and Miss Marion Thomas, pianist, are practicing for a recital.

Touring Choir

ANOTHER successful tour was completed by the College Choir on February 5 when the final concert of the nine-day trip was presented in the Messiah Lutheran Church at Mifflintown. The tour took the 35-voice choir to eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey for 16 concerts in churches and high schools in 15 towns.

Directed by Prof. Charles L. Rowland since its beginning 18 years ago, the choir is highlighted this year by the varsity women's trio and varsity male quartet. Thomas E. Shoemaker, a senior from Ambler, Pa., is the president.

One writer wrote of the choir, "A near capacity audience was impressed by the musical accomplishment and joyous presentation of modern and classical religious music. . . the blue-robed organization held the listeners spellbound with such glimpses of harmony as "My God and I," "God Be in My Head" and "Creator of the Stars of Night."

The choir is scheduled for three single concerts in Colver, Windber and Johnstown on April 16. The final of the 27 concerts this season is the thirtieth annual Mother's Day concert in the St. James Lutheran Church in Huntingdon.

Augmented by the chapel choir, other singers on campus and alumni, the choir will sing the oratorio "St. Paul" on June 4 as part of the commencement program.

Microphotography

ONE of the greatest technical developments in the library world—microphotography—will soon find its place in the Juniata College library.

The class of 1949 presented a gift of $150 to the library to start a microfilm library. Now, through the additional generosity of alumni and friends, sufficient funds are available to purchase a microfilm reader.

For the primary use of the microfilm reader, the library staff hopes to obtain the microfilm edition of the New York Times. The Times is the only one example of how the application of the ordinary camera to the printed page has been a revolutionary development in the library world.

Microfilming, or the photographing of printed material on a sensitized film, is one phase of microphotography that appeals to libraries throughout the world since it offers them reproductions of materials which have been impossible or difficult to obtain.

According to members of the library staff, rare or out-of-print books, dissertations, thesis, or back files of magazines and newspapers can be obtained on microfilm at a nominal cost and a tremendous saving of shelving space.

The microfilm, 35 mm or 16 mm, can be viewed in a special projector which gives an image one and one-half times that of the original printed page. One foot of film carries eight newspaper pages or approximately 825 pages on 100 feet of film.

The staff of the library has expressed its appreciation to the class of 1949 for its contribution toward the microfilm library. In addition, members of the class are invited (through these columns) to see the microfilm reader at the annual Friends of the Library tea on Saturday, June 3, of Commencement weekend.

ALUMNI BULLETIN

Alley Memorial Fund

THE "Hattie Z. Alley Memorial Scholarship Fund" has been established by relatives and friends of the late Mrs. Hattie Z. Alley, missionary of the Church of the Brethren to India since 1917. Money from the fund will be used to assist Christian young people in India to prepare for medical service.

Mrs. Alley, who died on Nov. 1, 1949, at the Polyclinic Hospital in Harrisburg, was the wife of the Rev. Howard L. Alley of Huntingdon, and the mother of two daughters now at Juniata, Nina and Thelma. Another daughter, Erma, '45 ex, was a student at Juniata.

Although Mrs. Alley had no medical degree, she was both doctor and nurse to thousands of men, women and children of India who needed her help, for more than a quarter-century.

Donations to the fund may be sent to the Rev. Howard L. Alley, 1808 Scott St., Huntingdon, or to John O. Gehrett, treasurer, Stone Church of the Brethren, 427 Penn St., Huntingdon.

New Clock Installed

An attractive IBM clock has been installed this year on the wall of the east reading room of the College Library. The clock was a gift to the library from the class of 1947.

Family Style

The two-platoon system of eating ended at the college on Jan. 30.

Because of a resident enrollment beyond the capacity of its dining hall, the college had been forced to hold two servings for each meal for "more than a decade," according to Frances J. Mathias, college dietitian.

But the opening of the $110,000 dining hall addition doubled the present capacity.

The additional space permits the seating of 464 students and provides "family style" eating for all resident students at tables for eight.

New Students Enrolled

Twelve new full-time students were admitted for the spring term opening on January 30. They were: Miriam V. Barnes, Hanover, Pa.; J. Roderick Brumbaugh, University Heights, Ohio; Robert D. Clark, Huntingdon; David M. Hackett, Lampeter, Pa.; Robert R. Jones, Alum Bank, Pa.; Donald L. McFarland, Everett, Pa.; Michael T. Paszuszek, Chester, Pa.; Joan E. Reaney, Hollidaysburg, Pa.; Lon E. Schrock, Rockwood, Pa.; John E. Shaffer, Bellwood, Pa.; John R. Shoop, Mapleton Depot, Pa.; Ronald G. Taylor, Mount Union, Pa.

In The News

TWO Juniata alumnae made names for themselves and their alma mater during the past year.

There was a report in the New York Sun of Dec. 29, 1949, of a joint paper by Mrs. John Gower '42 (Josephine R. Stouffer) and Dr. W. L. Russell before the Genetic Society of America.

Their paper was a report of the important and interesting work being done at Oak Ridge, Tenn., by this research team on the effect of the gamma ray on the birth of mammals. The experiments are being done with mice.

Blanche Shoemaker Wagstaff '36 won the Women Poets Contest in New York for her lyric, "Sky, Dance." Her edition of "Beloved Son," the life of Jesus in rhyme for children, will appear this year. A ten year labor on "After the Flesh" has recently been completed.

431 Resident Students

A total of 431 resident students were included on the spring term registration of 609 at the college. Of these 256 are men, 175 women.

Plan New Gym

Juniata College's next project in its Postwar Fund construction program is scheduled to be a Memorial Physical Education building.

A male quartet and girls' trio were featured with the College choir this season during its 27-concert series. In addition the two groups have appeared before alumni clubs and various civic and social clubs throughout the state. The varsity male quartet (left to right) includes Charles E. Redenberger '53, Altoona; Clair D. Schaffner '51, Orwin; Gerald F. Hartzel '51, Souderton; and Alan M. Fletcher '50, Huntingdon. Three senior music majors compose the trio: Mrs. Frances L. Roddy, Wynnewood; Mrs. Gladys C. Mohr, Hatfield; and Miss Elma F. Stine, McVeytown.

Hoop Season Ends

A WAY back in the cold days of February, it looked like Dr. Arnold Greene was going to come up with a Juniata basketball team that would "click" in his first season. The season's record at that stage was four wins and five losses—and the team was looking good!

But then came successive encounters with three of the nation's top offensive-minded quintets—St. Francis, Lebanon Valley and Westminster. Juniata suffered three decisive defeats within six days.

That did it! The Tribe never recovered and went on to finish out the second half of the season with eight straight setbacks and a record of four wins, 13 defeats.

In the first nine games, the Indians has been outclassed in only one contest when Geneva trimmed them 69-46. Losses to Bucknell and Dickinson were by thin margins in thriller games. And during this first-half stretch, Doc's men recorded wins over Allegheny, Susquehanna twice and Elizabethtown.

Once again the sharpshooting efforts of Holmes Ulsh, a senior forward from Huntingdon, set the pace for Juniata's offense.

Ulsh duplicated last year's high of 298 by registering 111 field goals and 76 of 118 fouls. His season average of 17.5 bettered his former mark because of one less game.

Again ranking among the State's high scorers, Ulsh's sharpshooting gave him a three-year total of 822.

Season's results:

Opponent	Own Score	Opp Score
Lycoming	38	42
Bucknell	48	50
Elizabethtown	53	67
Allegheny	54	48
Susquehanna	59	42
Geneva	46	69
Susquehanna	56	35
Dickinson	69	73
Elizabethtown	62	57
St. Francis	49	76
Lebanon Valley	51	64
Westminster	52	92
Drexel	37	64
Ursinus	68	83
Lebanon Valley	74	86
Franklin & Marshall	41	52
Albright	64	66

The Juniata Sports Parade

Spring Sports

JUNIATA will play a 16-game baseball schedule this spring opening on April 12.

The Indians will play nine home and seven away against ten different opponents in the college's 47th season of intercollegiate competition. Bill Smaltz, head football coach, will direct the ball club for the fourth year.

This year's schedule includes two opponents, Lycoming and Geneva, which have not been met on the diamond before.

BASEBALL

Apr. 12, Lycoming, away; Apr. 15, Lebanon Valley, home; Apr. 18, St. Vincent, away; Apr. 19, Pitt. away; Apr. 22, Lycoming, home; Apr. 28, Geneva, home; Apr. 29, Elizabethtown, home.

May 4, Susquehanna, away; May 6, Dickinson, home; May 10, Susquehanna, home; May 13, St. Francis, home; May 17, Bucknell, home; May 19, Lebanon Valley, away; May 20, Elizabethtown, away; May 27, St. Francis, away.

June 3, St. Vincent, home.

The track schedule will include three dual meets, one triangular contest and participation in the Penn Relays and Middle Atlantics.

Dickinson and Lebanon Valley will be met here in dual meets and the annual Bucknell-Gettysburg-Juniata meet also is scheduled here this year. The only away contest is slated with Albright.

TRACK

Apr. 22, Albright, away; Apr. 26, Dickinson, home; Apr. 28-29, Penn Relays, Philadelphia; May 3, Bucknell-Gettysburg-Juniata, home; May 9, Lebanon Valley, home; May 12-13, Middle Atlantics, Newark, Del.

The Indian golfers, who have recorded one of the best collegiate records in the Tri-State area in the past two years, will face another stiff schedule of nine dual matches and the Western Maryland invitation tournament.

Six home and three away matches are included on the slate. The team will be defending its Western Maryland tourney championship at Westminster, Md.

GOLF

Apr. 14, Western Maryland, home; Apr. 18, Dickinson, away; Apr. 21, Pitt, away; Apr. 25, Dickinson, home; Apr. 29, Westminster, home.

May 4, Albright, away; May 9, Geneva, home; May 13, Western Maryland invitation, away; May 19, Johns Hopkins, home; May 20, Bucknell, home.

Ralph Kiner's Dad Attended Juniata

WHEN Ralph Kiner slams out a home run for the Pittsburgh Pirates this season, Juniata's may burst forth with an extra lusty cheer.

Records reveal that the Homer King's dad, Ralph Macklin Kiner, attended Juniata College from the fall term of 1901 until the summer term of 1903. That gives Juniata a very definite interest in Ralph Kiner.

Pittsburgh sports writers first informed the college news bureau that Dad Kiner was a former student of Juniata. His name had been listed in the official Alumni Record, but no one had discovered the connection. Alumni of the time confirmed that Mr. Kiner had been at the college.

Then the registrar's office blew the dust off old records to discover that he had been properly enrolled in 1901 for geography and theory of elocution and went on to take additional study in 1902 and 1903.

Dzvonar's Meteorites

Mike Dzvonar, one of Juniata College's all-time football greats, led his own basketball team the "Meteorites"—to the college's intramural court championship.

Meteor Mike surrounded himself with other gridiron stars including Dave Croft and George Smith, both Huntingdon boys who received Little All-American mention last season; Aldo Bonomi, Mike Mervis and Dick Young of Aliquippa; and Phil Chabody of Johnstown.

Good Golfer Too

Ray Korody, Greensburg junior, in addition to being a regular on Juniata College's court team, is also one of the top intercollegiate golfers in Pennsylvania.

Ulsh Leads Scoring

Juniata's individual scoring leader in basketball for three seasons has been Holmes Ulsh, five-foot-ten-inch forward from Huntingdon.

It is reported that Mr. Kiner was born in the Huntingdon area and then moved west after attending Juniata. Actually he has been dead since his now famous son was about four years old. But Mrs. Beatrice Kiner, Ralph's mother, resides at 2121 Winthrop Dr., Alhambra, Cal.

Incidentally, Ralph Kiner recently signed a historic two-year contract with the Pirates for $65,000 per season. That means he will be paid at the rate of $1203 for each of the 54 home runs he hit in 1949.

The new agreement covering 1950 and 1951, gives the 27-year-old Kiner the distinction of becoming the highest salaried player in the history of the National League. He now is the third best paid performer in baseball.

So now when the Bucco slugger blasts another home run over the left field score board, some of you can say: "Yes, I knew his dad. . . we went to college together at Juniata."

Beautify College Gym

A PROJECT of major importance was begun on the campus last September and its benefits are still enjoyed by Saturday evening socialites.

The college gymnasium received a much-needed "face-lifting" and parties in the gym are receiving much-welcomed plaudits. A week of work by the social committee, headed by Betty May '50, and other interested students accomplished the task.

Spurred on by Dean Edith L. Spencer, the 16 women and 24 men workers succeeded in giving the gym a new look by scrubbing the woodwork and ridding the walls of myriad of thumb tacks accumulated through years of conscientious party decorators.

The laboring students completed their task by giving the walls an ivory coat of paint. All was finished in time for the first big social event of the fall, the faculty reception.

8 Game Grid Slate

AN eight-game football schedule has been arranged by Juniata College for the first time since 1937, Director of Athletics P. M. Snider has announced.

Since 1937, Juniata has played seven games or less on its regular schedule. Next season's slate will include four home and four away contests.

The Indians will face one new opponent, Lycoming, and will renew relations with Washington College on the 1950 card. In addition, the series will be continued with six other opponents—Westminster, Hartwick, Susquehanna, Haverford, Dickinson and Grove City.

Sept. 30—Westminster, away.

Oct. 7—Hartwick, home; Oct. 14—Susquehanna, away; Oct. 21—Haverford, home; Oct. 28—Dickinson, away.

Nov. 4—Lycoming, home; Nov. 11—Grove City, away; Nov. 18—Washington, home.

Scoring Spree

The 160-point scoring total registered as Lebanon Valley downed Juniata's cagers 86-74 fell six points short of the all-time Juniata single-game point total record. In games with Lebanon Valley last season and Elizabethtown two years ago, Juniata and opponents totaled 166 points.

Three Seniors On Squad

Three seniors were on the Juniata College varsity basketball squad. All were on the starting five: Holmes Ulsh, Huntingdon, and Stan Welch, Mount Union, at forwards; John Stayer, Huntingdon, at center.

Snider Heads Trackmen

P. M. "Mike" Snider, Juniata College's director of athletics, is president again this year of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Track and Field Association.

One Frosh On 'Five'

Only freshman in the starting five for Juniata College this basketball season was Dave Bayer, six-foot-three-inch guard from Woodbury, N.J.

Seniors Scamper For 'Bush'

In this day and age you never can tell where college students will wander. Five seniors accepted the urge in a slack time between terms in January and headed north. This story of their travels was written by one of the party. Maybe it will recall some college-day expeditions of alumni.

By George Sprague '50

A "Dreamer's Holiday" came true for five J.C. seniors recently, when we went on a between-semester trip into the Canadian "bush."

Rex Hershberger, Don Kagarise, Dave Kennedy, Bob Lowry and I started out from the campus by car on January 25. Destination—Algonquin Provincial Park, Ontario, about 600 miles away. By late evening we reached the outskirts of Toronto, where we stayed overnight in a tourist cabin.

Getting up early the next morning, we drove on to Huntsville, Ontario, our last touch of civilization. Our original plans called for a lot of snowshoeing in this territory. However, after parking our car 38 miles from Huntsville, we discovered that there was no snow—so we carried our snowshoes, hoping to use them later on.

A Little Breezy

The Buick couldn't negotiate the icy rut (called a road on the map), so we walked (or rather slid in the dark) three and a half miles into a place called Joe Lake. We slept???? that night at Joe Lake Station, a so-called railroad station, and it was rather cool—in fact, water froze three feet from the fire.

We started out towards Brule Lake, at about 8 a.m. the next day, along the railroad tracks and covered the seven mile distance just in time to eat our lunch at a lumber camp there. We had a terrific meal of all of the cold ham, pork, beef pie, homemade bread, corn, potatoes, tea, preserves, jellies and pie we could eat.—Cost—50 cents each!! After a half hour of steady eating, we pushed away from the table, took a two hour "siesta" in a nearby store and then continued on to the cabin of Dr. Edmund H. Kase, where we stayed for the night.

Dr. Kase, professor of theology at Wilson College, gave us pre-trip advice as to our outfits, type of weather expected, etc. His beautiful lake-shore cabin was an eight or ten room affair and had good cooking facilities. This was a relief to "Mammy" Kagarise, our self-appointed chef, who had taken a lot of razzing from the troops after his attempts at Joe Lake Station.

Rough Riding

Logging trucks are rough riding, but we discovered on Saturday that they were better than walking the seven miles to the next camp. As coincidence would have it, we arrived there just as the dinner gong was ringing. So rather than trust our cook, we ate a good meal at this camp.

After getting specific directions, we started walking the eight miles to our next cabin, which was at White-Trout Lake. We had to follow a phone line over fairly rugged country and it was dark when we reached "Jack's Cabin." This cabin was smaller than Kases', but proved quite adequate for our needs.

We got our water by chopping a hole through the 14 inch ice and using buckets to dip the water out. Needless to say, this was very hard on our axe.

What? No Fish

Sunday morning, we struggled out of bed by 8 a.m., finished breakfast two hours later and then went outside to do some ice fishing. Our minnows, carried from Huntsville, had by this time frozen, but we chopped some more holes and used them anyway. We soon gave it up as a bad job however, and went for a short tour of the nearby countryside. Coming back an hour later, we had a brief devotional service, ate dinner, and then chopped up a couple of trees for firewood. After we ate supper, and talked for awhile, we went to bed. This (9:30 p.m.) was the latest we stayed up the whole trip. What a rough life!!

The prospect of returning to Brule Lake wasn't too appealing the next day, so we started out early, with lightened packs, but still aching shoulders. We made excellent progress and arrived back at logging operations in the early afternoon. We must have presented odd pictures because when we approached the log loaders, Dave said to the driver: "I suppose you think we're crazy, carrying these snowshoes, when there isn't any snow on the ground." He replied, "Yeah, you do sort of give that impression."—Well, now we know.

We got rides on the loaded trucks out to Dr. Kase's cabin, which felt very good to us that night.

Snow Finally Comes

Tuesday morning, when we were ready to start back to the car, it was snowing. We had hoped to get a ride out on a railroad section car, but as it didn't come, we started to walk out along the snow-covered ties. Three hours later we reached the home of a man who agreed to take us out the remaining four miles to our car.

So we all climbed into his open jeep and bounced our way over the icy road to the vehicle that would return us to Juniata—we hoped.

We then headed for Huntsville, where we got dined, gifts, etc. (including some multi-colored tams). As soon as we finished, we started on the long journey home. By driving all night, we managed to reach College Hill by the middle of Tuesday morning, tired but contented.

So, for an individual expense of about $15 each, we spent a very enjoyable week—in spite of the lack of snow. For further recommendations about this type of trip, I refer you to the "Canadian Kids" who were involved.

Anniversary Year

The 75th year of Juniata College begins on April 17, 1950.

"The untimely death of W. Emmert Swigart in the prime of his life and the height of a distinguished and brilliant business career deprives Huntingdon of one of its best-known figures and the insurance world of an honored and rightly famous executive," wrote Editor John H. Biddle in The Daily News of Huntingdon.

As reported in the last Alumni Bulletin, Mr. Swigart died at his home in Huntingdon on December 17, 1949, following a heart attack.

The story of Emmert Swigart's rise from a modest beginning as an insurance salesman following graduation from the college to head four of his own companies and directorates in many others "is the familiar 'success' story that has marked the lives of so many of America's big business executives," the editorial explains.

Mr. Biddle wrote: "I have never known a man of more dynamic energy. He could supply the driving power and inspiration for all the hundreds of people who worked for him. . ."

"His unbounded enthusiasm and enjoyment in meeting people were utilized in the positions of community and civic responsibility that he filled over a period of many years. . . His interest in Juniata College was unflagging and he had served as president of its Alumni Association and also as a trustee. He was a deacon and trustee of the Church of the Brethren.

"He was generous, too, with Juniata College. Many fine things for the college were done in years past and just recently he gave the sum of $28,000 to make possible the enlargement of the college music department and the purchase for it of the McSherry residence.

"With the tremendously busy life that he lived, Mr. Swigart found surcease from the cares and burdens of business with his family and his hobbies.

"A son of a distinguished father, the late Rev. W. J. Swigart, he had ingrained in him not only a love of his church, but also a fine sense of filial piety that might well serve as an example. . . Emmert Swigart's tender and loving regard and care for his parents (who died only 10 years ago) were reflected again last Christmas when the beautiful carillon chimes were installed at the Stone Church as a memorial to the Rev. Dr. Swigart and his wife," wrote Editor Biddle.

Mr. Swigart was married in 1907 to Eva Workman and they had five children. Mrs. Swigart died in 1930. In 1936, Mr. Swigart and Miss Elizabeth Weeks were married.

Survivors include: Mrs. Swigart; his five children: John W. and William E. Jr., as-

Reunion of 'Tils'

Editor's Note:—Juniatians everywhere may recall such campus cliques as "The Bad Eggs," "The Breakfast Club," "The Screwballs," "The Big Ten," "The Blackfeet," and scores of others. Here is a report on the "Tils" direct from a member. The editors of the Alumni Bulletin will welcome other reports from such organizations for future publication.

JUST before graduating in June, 1940, eight girls on the Juniata campus, solemnly vowed that come what may they would get together in the future, always stick together, always write to each other and try to help one another. They wouldn't forget the common experiences they had on the Juniata campus for four long years.

And so it is not surprising that on Nov. 5 and 6, 1949, these same girls, with one absent, met for their first post-war reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Davis, Jr. (Josephine Mierley) in New Briton, Bucks county, Pa.

The girls and their husbands enjoyed a weekend of good entertainment, many recollections, and, of course, the relating of happenings since they last met. They had kept their word in regard to writing for a "round-robin" letter had been circulated constantly over those years. It had gone halfway around the world on more than one occasion to keep one or more of the group well-posted about happenings in the States.

Those attending the house party included: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fetzer (Jacqueline McCauley), Brookville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nittoli (Mary Elizabeth Quiggle), Elizabeth, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schultz (Arline Vought), Salisbury, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Snyder (Marilynn Myers), Huntingdon, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Weil, (Martha Brubaker), Baia, Brazil, S.A.; Dr. and Mrs. Alvin P.

THE TILS

Wenger (Catherine Gehrett), Elizabethtown, Pa.; and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Davis, Jr. (Josephine Mierley), New Briton.

Nearly ten years after graduation, this group (at that occasion) had thirteen potential students of the future, of which three are boys, ten are girls. And of these two are twin girls—the Fetzer twins born June 29, 1949.

The occasion marked the first trip to the States in three years for "Bruby" and her husband who have been located in Sao Paulo and Baia, Brazil.

The "Tils," a name adopted before leaving school, never have forgotten each other.

Receive Master's Degrees

Three Juniata graduates were among students who were awarded advanced degrees at the mid-year Commencement exercises of the Pennsylvania State College on February 7, 1950.

Mrs. Virginia Lee Smith '33 received a master of arts degree in English literature. Both Ernest R. Shull '47 and Paul R. Yoder, Jr. '47 were granted master of science degrees—Shull in chemistry, Yoder in physics.

Organize In Florida

MEMBERS of the Alumni Association and friends of the college met at the Jacaranda Hotel, Avon Park, Fla., on Valentine's Day, February 14, 1950, to effect a permanent organization in Florida.

William A. Hollinger '02, Sebring, was elected president for a one-year term. Other officers selected were: J. Kennard Johnson '05, Miami, vice-president; Robert J. Barben '41, Avon Park, secretary-treasurer. The executive committee includes Dr. Norman J. Brumbaugh '06; Mrs. Sam M. Gehrett '03; Samuel M. Hess '06, all of Huntingdon; J. B. Boring S77-80 and A. P. Silverthorn '85, of Sebring.

After one of the hotel's famous dinners, the group was entertained by Mrs. C. Jewett Henry with folklore songs accompanied by Mrs. Vaughan Driggers.

S. M. Hess presented an interesting address describing how Juniata "got such a hold" in Sebring. Then Chalender H. Leshner, chairman of the finance committee of the board of trustees, spoke on the development of the college from a small plot of ground and a few buildings to its present site and size. He told of present and future construction plans.

Persons who attended the Florida banquet were: Mr. and Mrs. John K. Barben and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barben, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Brumbaugh, Dr. N. J. Brumbaugh, Mr. Bruce Boring, Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Funk, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Gehrett, the Rev. and Mrs. William Heisey.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jewett Henry and son, John; Mrs. Curran Henry, Mr. and Mrs. William Hollinger, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Hess, Mrs. Laura Hershey, Mr. Foster King, Mr. and Chalender H. Leshner, Mr. and Mrs. Lilian M. Roher, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Ritchey, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Replogle.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Silverthorn, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Swigart, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Van Horn, and Mrs. Waite.

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY

One of the highlights of Alumni weekend each year is the annual Friends of the Library tea. This year the tea will be held Saturday afternoon, June 3. You are invited.

The Friends of the Library are the graduates and associates of Juniata who further the development of the library with gifts of books and money.

A coupon in the lower left corner of this page will enable you to indicate your interest in the Friends of the Library. Please come to the tea—share with us the enjoyment of Alumni weekend. You'll meet old friends and new among alumni and faculty.

Lillian M. Evans, Librarian
Juniata College
Huntingdon, Pa.

Dear Miss Evans:

I desire to be a Friend of the Juniata College Library.

Please expect me as I plan to attend the Friends of the Library tea on Saturday, June 3.
